

2 CHOICES for H&S Training

Foundation Health and Safety Certificate training in the seafood industry

WHY?

- UK H&S training requires employers and employees to be suitably trained.
- Employers have a responsibility to effectively manage H&S in the workplace and to carry out full and sufficient risk assessments.
- Employees have a statutory responsibility for their own safety and well being.
- Employers are also responsible for everyone on their premises and for anyone who may be put at risk by the activities of the business.
- Good Health and Safety makes good sense.

WHAT?

Seafish recognises the need for different health & safety training options to suit the differing needs of our industry, which is why we have developed these two health and safety training CHOICES for the UK's seafood industry.

- Both CHOICES are designed to meet the H&S training needs of the onshore sectors of the seafood industry.
- Both CHOICES are suitable for managers, supervisors and small business owners.
- Both CHOICES can lead to a nationally recognised Foundation H&S certificate from the CIEH via a short test.

▪ CHOICE 1 “Health and Safety Open Learning Programme”

Ideally suited to both individuals and groups who are able to self-study. The open learning module health and safety in the seafood industry is a comprehensive up to date learning pack.

The pack will provide you with a wealth of up to date H&S information and once you have studied it you can take the short multiple choice test that can be delivered at a place and time to suit you – your place of work for example.

To get started simply order the pack from your GTA or from Seafish. We will then contact you to arrange a suitable test date.

Costs – the combined package of open learning module and examination costs £45.00 per person. For larger groups it is possible to offer a small discount.

▪ CHOICE 2 “H&S Taught Course”

This one day (6+ hour) course has been specially developed to meet the needs of managers, supervisors and small business owners in the seafood industry. The course will be delivered by a Seafish selected and CIEH approved trainer and includes the short multiple choice test.

Costs – the delivery of the course is £200 plus VAT. Individual candidate packs are £9.25 each. There may be an additional charge for the cost of the venue and occasionally for travel.

Usually a maximum of 15 persons can attend a taught course.

For more information on H&S training and to find out what courses may be booked in your area contact your regional seafood industry Group Training Association.
